The information concerning the $35.-600 in campaign contributions came within the last few days. One gift has, they say, been traced directly to the man who gave it. This man will not be called, but if Governor Sulzer denies that he got the money, the managers declare they will prove its receipt. The other two, the managers say, they have located, and will be to prove the charge when the entire case of the defense will be built with the Governor's testimony as the keystone. Several hundred witnesses are ready to come into court and testify to giving checks to the Governor as tokens of their personal admiration and esteem. Louis A. Sarrecky, whom the prosecution to-day refused to call, will support all the Governor has to say about his stock transactions, and other members of the Governor's personal following will lake the stand Raicigh, N. C., October 1.—A stir was created in legislative circles to-night, when it was found that the House had, without knowing it, passed and sent to the Senate a bill that would take Wilkes County out of the Seventh Congressional District and restore it to the Eighth. The scheme behind the attempted legislation is alleged to be to upset the political complexion of the two districts and restore the Eighth to the Republican column. It is charged to be a "saeak bill." It was introduced by Representative Linville Bumgartner, of Wilkes County, and the House passed it without reading it.
